PARIS, Auguſt 28.

THE Queen and the Diana arrived a few Days ago at Port l'Orient, from the East Indies: M. de la Touche is come over in the Diana, and brings a Confirmation of the Accounts we lately had by the Way of England, concerning the Succeſſes of our Countrymen in India. According to the Relation which M. Dupleix has ſent by the Sieur de la Touche, it appears that the Nabob Narſinguen, Uſurper of the Kingdom of Golconda, not being diſheartened at the Loſs of Gingy, and other Repulſes he had met with, aſſembled another powerful Army, in order to try its Fortune once more with the French; which M. Dupleix being informed of, reſolved to meet him at leaſt Half-way, and therefore ordered the Sieur de la Touche to march againſt him from Gingy. The two Armies lay ſome Time four Leagues diſtant from one another, with a River between them which was not fordable: Bad Weather and Scarcity of Proviſions alſo kept them inactive. At laſt the French decamped, and after a long and painful March found a Ford, croſſed the River, and came up in Sight of the Enemy. The Sieur de la Touche having made all the neceſſary Diſpoſitions for an Engagement, gave the Command of the Center to M. Villeon, the Right Wing to M. Buſſi, and the left to M. Kerjean; and on the 15th of December laſt gave the Signal for the Battle, which laſted four Hours, when the Enemy's Troops were broken on every Side, and fled with great Precipitation. While our Men were purſuing them, News was brought to M. de la Touche that Narſinguen had been killed (by two or three of his principal Officers, as ſome ſay) and that his Nephew Mouraferſinguen, whom he had long kept in Confinement, was proclaimed by the Army King of Golconda in his Room; whereupon the French General ordered the Firing to ceaſe, and immediately after a Herald came to our Camp from the new Nabob or King, to acquaint M. de la Touche with his Change of Condition, and propoſed Terms of Friendſhip and Alliance.

This Victory does ſo much the more Honour to the French, as the Enemy were vaſtly ſuperior in Number, being no leſs than 40,000 Foot, 45,000 Horſe, and 700 Elephants, with 360 Pieces of Cannon; whereas our Army conſiſted of no more than 800 French Foot Soldiers, with 500 Horſe, 3500 Cypayes, and only 20 Field Pieces. M. Dupleix's Relation concludes with great Encomiums on the Conduct and Bravery of the Sieur de la Touche, and the other Officers that ſhared with him in the Glory of the Victory.

Paris, Sept. 17. On the 13th, about Half an Hour paſt One in the Morning, after a Labour of ten Minutes, the Dauphineſs was delivered of a Prince; with the News of which joyful Event a Perſon of Quality was diſpatched to the Guild-hall of Paris, where the Bells were immediately rung, and the People flocking thither, Money was thrown among them; this was accompanied with a general Diſcharge of the Town, Baſtile and Invalids Guns: The Ringing continued four Days, without Intermiſſion, and the Firing was regularly repeated three Times on each Day, at Dawn, Noon, and Evening; the Illuminations alſo were renewed every Night. The Duke de Gevres, Governor of Paris, came every Day to the Guild-hall, and, jointly with the Magiſtracy, threw Money to the Populace. The Shops were ſhut during three Days, and there ſeemed an univerſal Emulation among all Ranks in declaring their Joy. His Majeſty, deſirous that this Bleſſing ſhould be celebrated in a Manner acceptable to Heaven, has ſignified to the Corporation of Paris, and of all other Cities and Towns, that the Moneys deſigned to have been expended in public Rejoicings, ſhould be diſtributed into Portions for poor Maidens; the Anſwer of the City of Paris was, "Your Majeſty's good City of Paris will do both;" and we expect this Anſwer will be general, the other Places, if not ſo opulent, being equally devoted to his Majeſty.

The Muſicians of the Royal Academy of Muſic gave an Opera gratis on this Occaſion; which Example was followed by the French and Italian Theatres.

The foreign Miniſters and chief Nobility croud to Court to congratulate their Majeſties.

The Queen being compoſed to Sleep, it was not thought proper to awake her to be preſent at the Dauphineſs's Delivery: The King was at Trianon, from whence he came immediately to Verſailles, and at Five that joyful Morning their Majeſties, attended by the Dauphin and Meſdames, aſſiſted at Maſs.

On Monday Evening a fine Firework was play'd off, but ſome of the combuſtible Materials unhappily falling on one of his Majeſty's Stables, ſet them on Fire; and notwithſtanding all the Aid and Aſſiſtance that could poſſibly be deſired, was at hand, yet the Flames could not be extinguiſhed till the Damage was very conſiderable, ſeveral fine Horſes, but what was worſe, ſeveral of the Aſſiſtants loſt their Lives through this Misfortune.

His Majeſty himſelf accompanied by the Dauphin was preſent at this Diſaſter, and encouraged the Firemen and their Aſſiſtants to be very diligent and active in their Endeavours, that they ſuppreſt the Fire by Yeſterday Noon; the ill Conſequences that have attended it, have proved very conſiderable, as well as fatal to ſome particular Perſons.

LONDON.

Auguſt 20. Some Time ago the following odd Affair happened at Bedlam: Some Patients, to the Number of Ten, who were ſuffered to walk about the Houſe, being in the Kitchen one Morning when the Doctor was there, complained to him of the badneſs of their Broth, and told him they were determined not to ſuffer it any longer, for, as the Cook was out of the Way, they would rectify it themſelves; and immediately laid hold of him, and were going to put him into the boiling Copper; which the Doctor happily thought of an Expedient to delay a little: He told them his Cloaths would ſpoil the Broth, and deſired Leave to ſtrip; which they agreed to; and he was accordingly ordered to his Breeches and Shirt, when ſomebody knocked at the Door which they had faſtened; The Doctor called out and told them they could not come in, for he was undreſſing to go into the Copper. Imagining that ſomething extraordinary was the Occaſion of the Door's being faſtened, they immediately called out Fire; at which the Madmen were ſo terrified, that they opened the Door, and ran with great Precipitation Up-ſtairs; by which Means the Doctor eſcaped: And, on Repreſentation of the Matter, they were all the next Day cloſely confined.

Auguſt 23. We hear from Paris, that they have been pretty much alarmed there by a very uncommon Accident, that has occaſioned a great Variety of Speculations: Two dead Bodies were taken out of the River Seine, near St. Claude, the one a Woman in her Shift, the other a Man with nothing more on except his Breeches. The Woman had a Diamond Necklace of great Value, the Man ſeventy-eight Louiſdores in his Pocket, they were tied together Breaſt to Breaſt, as far as can be diſcerned, after being in the Water at leaſt near a Week, they were both very young. At firſt a ſtrict Inquiſition was made about this Affair; but, when according to Cuſtom, the Bodies ſhould have been expoſed, that they might be the ſooner known, an Order came for interring them privately. It is generally believed they were a Couple of Victims offered to the Fiend Jealouſy.

Sept. 15. His Majeſty having received Information, that the Plague had for ſome Time paſt raged, and doth ſtill continue to rage with the greateſt Violence in Conſtantinople and in the Parts adjacent; and as it is of the utmoſt Importance to take the earlieſt Meaſures to prevent the Contagion being brought by Goods or Perſons coming from any of the Places ſo infected, into this Kingdom, or the Iſles of Jerſey, Guernſey, Alderney, Sark and Man; his Majeſty out of his great Care and tender Regard for the Preſervation of his People, has been pleaſed to order, that all ſuch Ships as are arrived from the Levant, and not yet unladen, or that ſhall hereafter arrive in any Port of this Kingdom, or the aboveſaid Iſles, to make their Quarentine for 40 Days, which are to commence and be computed from the Day each Ship ſhall come to Anchor in the Places appointed for performing ſuch Quarentine, That until and during the Time for making ſuch Quarentine, no Perſon coming, or Goods imported in any Ship ſhall come on Shore, or be landed in any Place within this Kingdom, or any of the ſaid Iſles. That if at the Expiration of 40 Days Quarentine to be perform'd, it ſhall appear to the Officers of the Cuſtoms, that ſuch Ship, and all and every Perſon therein have duly performed their Quarentine, and that the Ship and all the Perſons on board are free from Infection, that then the reſpective Perſons coming in the ſaid Ship ſhall be permitted to go on Shore; but the Goods imported in ſuch Ship, together with the Bedding of the Sailors, ſhall be landed, opened and aired, and ſo remain a Week, and after may be brought to the Places of their Diſcharge, other than Hemp and Flax, Paper or Books, Silk raw, thrown or wrought, Feathers, Grogran, or Mohair Yarn, Human Hair, Goats Hair, Carmenia Wool, Camblets, Carpets, Burdets, or other Manufactures of Silk and Cotton, Kid Skins, and Skins in the Wool or Hair, Spunges, Wine and Oil in Cheſts, Thread Stockings, all Goods packed with Straw or Cotton, Straw Hats and Bruſhes, Matting and Artificial Flowers; which Goods, after Quarentine, are not to be landed till an Account be laid before his Majeſty in Council, and Orders given concerning the ſame. That whatever Ship or Perſon ſhall receive any Men or Goods from on board any Ship or Veſſel under Quarentine, ſhall be compelled to perform the like Quarentine. That ſuch Perſons as after Quarentine performed ſhall be employed in the Hold of any Ship, for the taking any Goods not liable to retain Infection, from Hemp and Flax, Paper or Books, or any other of the Species of Goods before enumerated as liable to retain Infection, ſhall be obliged to perform a new Quarentine of 40 Days. And all Captains of his Majeſty's Ships, Commiſſioners of the Cuſtoms, and all other Officers whom it may Concern, are directed to uſe their utmoſt Diligence and Care that the above Orders be duly performed.

At PORT MORANT.

Wedneſday, the 11th of September, at One o'Clock this Morning, it began to blow at N. N. W. and at 9 o'Clock it blew a Hurricane Wind, veerable from the N. N. W. to the E. S. E. at 12 o'Clock more moderate.

Put aſhore in this Harbour, the Commodore's Schooner, a Spaniſh Schooner loaden with Sugar, ſtove to Pieces, the Men ſaved. A Pilot Boat put aſhore in a Cane-Piece at Morant-Bay; all the Stores and Wharfs carried away, and ſeveral Hogſheads of Sugar, and Puncheons of Rum loſt.

Several Sloops loſt to Windward of this Harbour, the Crews loſt. All the Sugar Canes lodged, and for the moſt Part, the Houſes are blown down, or the Shingles ſtripped, and all the Negro Hutts blown down. One White Man and ſeveral Negroes kill'd by the Falling of the Houſes, the Trees in the Woods, and all the Plaintain Trees are entirely blown [illegible]

Moſt of the Wharffs in Kingſton, are blown away, or greatly damaged; as likewiſe thoſe to Windward and Leeward are gone, with ſeveral Houſes; moſt of the Canes in the Cane-Pieces are either lodged or waſhed away, many Works are deſtroyed, and ſeveral Negroes, Cattle, &c. kill'd.

There are Numbers of the Crews of moſt of the Veſſels loſt, the Particulars of which ſhall be publiſhed, as ſoon as they can by Care and with Authority be aſcertained.

A Ship called the Roman Emperor, was turning up from Lucea to St. Anne's, the Day of the Storm, and apprehended to be loſt, not having been heard of for ſome Time after; till a Bird was taken up aſhore, with a Label tied to its Noſtrills, written on, Ship Roman Emperor, ſafe off the Weſt End, the 21ſt September, 1751. And on the Return of the Veſſel, the People confirmed the Account of their doing it to ſeveral of the Kind which they had caught in their Paſſage.
